Extended Bio:

Dr Lesley Phillips began her career as a PhD scientist searching the globe for microbes that produced novel antibiotics. She then became a business woman in the biotechnology industry, responsible for negotiating multi-million dollar licensing deals.

Lesley was always interested in meditation and spirituality and she developed her abilities as a clairvoyant healer and spiritual teacher in parallel to her busy career.

This was an enviable lifestyle, but it was unfulfilling as she feared completely being herself in either environment, lest she be judged for her spiritual abilities and beliefs or her strong intellect and material success.

Things came to a head in 2005 when she decided she could no longer lead a double life. Since then she has focused on helping people access their spiritual abilities by teaching them to meditate and by offering spiritual counseling services in the form of intuitive readings and energy healings.

She is the creator of Portico Soul Essence Cards, a card deck meant to help open the intuition and creativity of its users. As well as being the author of a spiritual novel, called "The Midas Tree."
